

TURF'S UP...

Heyyy.... If you digs them ol' Surf Rock instrumentals from the late 50s/early 60s - and you also digs peats - then this here kinda Spanish-soundin' "turf rock" tune from Memphis Louie an' the Rockin' Firebird of Death (that's MLATRFOD for short) might just be for you.

And if you cuts peats, then it ain't gonna take you long to figure out what "Tarasquiera" is made-up Spanish Gaelic (Spàidhlig? Spàglig?) for.

Co dhiu, Memphis Louie an' the Rockin' Firebird of Death (Sandwick's meanest evillest rockinest 60s garage band from the 1980s) done put this here number together as a li'l online lockdown timewastin' exercise.

Gee-tar greats such as King Jong ill, Dante J. Romero and Jason E. Dunringleberg sent in their lead breaks without gettin' to hear what each other was doin', then Leroi Z Coondawg strung them together with the git-tar, bass and drums that hisself an' Memphis Louie Studebaker had done.

Next, multi-talented git-har hero/movie mogul King Jong ill done stuck a vye-deeyo together using ol' bits of film from the peats in years gone by, an' new bits that our good buddy Kenny Fraochy done shot live an' direct at his own peats, way out in the dee-sert at the back of Back.

A few good ol' ancestral photos and a picture or two of great names in the world of peats and tairsgears, and we was good to go.

Hope you enjoy. Watch yo' self out there on the turf an' don't let the midgies bite.
